Alexandria TCG — 2025
Mobile trading-card game built on Wikipedia (closed beta)

- Mobile trading-card game where every card is a Wikipedia article (around 2.75M), with booster openings, a collection, an auction market and player-to-player trading.
- Built with React Native (Expo, TypeScript) and a Supabase / Postgres backend, with the game logic in SQL functions and row-level security.
- Designed the game economy, the API and the data model, led the technical decisions, handled large-scale data import and tested on device. Currently in closed beta on iOS and Android.

React Native · Expo · TypeScript · Supabase · PostgreSQL
